
2010 Schedule

Upcoming Shows

Monday, September 27th

I am debuting my first dramatic play, “On the Inside.”

Several years in the making, this play came about as a result of my decade long work as a theatre artist working with women in a maximum security prison. It is about women in prison, but it is also funny.

7pm at Mike Lemon Casting, 413 N. 7th Street, Philadelphia

Saturday, October 9th

Join the first gathering of “5,000 Women.” I have devised this incredible day-long experience which supports us creative types to craft a work of art, other heartfelt project, or dream we want to launch. Men are welcome too. We will meet every 3 months. Free spa and gourmet lunch is included in the event price. Click here to learn more.

<http://jenniferblaine.wordpress.com/5000-women-festival-info/>

Friday, November 12th

OLDER WISER BITCHIER - I am brewing up a new one-woman show, replete with one-liners, characters such as Dr. Amir and Ruth, and tremendous opportunities for you to play in the improvisational aliveness. We'll cover everything from the environment, relationships, marriage, aging and death. Doesn't that sound like fun?

The Ethical Society, 1906 Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia

$20, purchase at the door or click

<http://www.brownpapertickets.com/event/129712>

Saturday May 21st

“5,000 Women” This is the performance side of my “5,000 Women Festival.” We will have a day of performance artists plus a seminar on making it in the arts at my alma mater, Wesleyan University in Middletown, CT. Yes, we moved it to May because apparently some of you WES folks will be there then!